From:	Sam Eccles
To:	smallpots.policyteam@dwp.gov.uk
Cc:	Danielle Elliott
Subject:	PPI Consultation Response - Small Pots: a pathway for consolidation
Date:	17 November 2026 09:22:06
Attachments:	image.png image.png PPI Response - DWP small pots a pathway for consolidation.docx

Good morning,

Please find the attached response from the Pensions Policy Institute (PPI) to the Department for Work and Pensions' open consultation: Small Pots: a pathway for consolidation.

The PPI is responding on behalf of the organisation and is happy for this consultation response to be shared with relevant regulatory bodies, including The Pensions Regulator (TPR) and the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA), for the purposes of policy development and oversight. The PPI is also content for its response to be quoted in any future government publication arising from the consultation. We are happy for the response to be attributed to the Pensions Policy Institute and do not require it to be anonymised.

For transparency, we intend to publish the consultation response on our website on Monday 23 November 2026. Should you have any concerns regarding the publication of our response, or be aware of any reason why this would not be appropriate, please do let us know ahead of this date.

Thanks very much,

Sam Eccles
External Relations Officer

Pensions Policy Institute
PPI

Mobile: 07786795961
Email: sam@pensionspolicyinstitute.org.uk
Address: Pensions Policy Institute, Thanet House, 231-232 Strand, Temple, London, WC2R 1DA
Website: http://www.pensionspolicyinstitute.org.uk

The PPI embraces Diversity & Inclusivity and is supportive of a flexible approach to working.